Beyond Rembrandt in the Dutch Republic

The still-life and everyday scenes reveal much about the Dutch life as the patrons were buying for their own homes and not the church. Let us begin our journey with Vermeer and then meet the other Masters of Holland's Golden Age.

Pharaohs of the Sun: Akhenaten, Nefertiti and Tutankhamen

The entire history of Egypt changed when Akhenaten, the father of Tut, came to rule Egypt. An era of beauty and naturalism dominates the art of the period.

Venetian Artists of the Renaissance and After

The Republic of Venice was at odds with Rome and the art style we find here is quite independent of Roman artists. We start with Titian and Giorgione who invoke color and poetry in their works, then move to the bizarre mode of Mannerism.
